1. Reed Reforms

2. Sunshine Reform Task Force (SRTF)

a. Review of remaining provisions of Sunshine Reform Task Force Phase 1 Report and Recommendations.

Discussion ensued regarding applying the SRTF recommendations to “other advisory entities” defined by Staff as follows: (1) Group 1, standing committees of advisory bodies or committees comprised of City Council staff that represent a majority of the City Council offices – these groups are subject to the Brown Act; (2) Group 2, entities created to advise the Mayor, the Mayor’s Chief of Staff or Budget/Policy Director, a Councilmember or Council Appointee – these groups are open to the public but not subject to the Brown Act; and (3) Group 3, ad hoc groups formed or used for a specific/immediate problem of a private or non-public nature – these groups would not be open to the public and not subject to the Brown Act.

Brief discussion ensued regarding advisors to an individual Councilmember. SRTF Chair Ed Rast pointed out that the Task Force did not intend to regulate campaign committees, but that the Task Force did intend to regulate policy committees controlled by the Mayor or a Councilmember.

Councilmember Constant asked for clarification as to when an ad hoc group becomes a standing committee. City Attorney Rick Doyle replied that if it goes beyond six months it is generally seen as something more permanent and should be subject to the Brown Act.

Action: The Committee modified Staff’s definition of Group 2 bodies by adding “primarily formed to advise.....on the City’s business”; accepted the Task Force recommendation to require 4 days notice/posting of agendas for Groups 1 and 2; and directed Staff to work on a clear definition of “ad hoc”. The Committee continued further discussion of “other advisory entities” to its next meeting.
